FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

STV|DPM Adds Seven to Hartford Project Team

Hartford, CT, January 31, 2017 – STV|DPM, a leading provider of owner’s project management services, is excited to announced that it has added project managers Ronald Chan, Juan Pablo Cobos, Kriti Sharma and Anthony Wagner; and assistant project managers, Eric Byrd, James Marquis and Kyle Rongey, to its Hartford office project team.

Ron Chan comes to STV|DPM from Cushman & Wakefield and possesses 30 years of experience in the real estate and construction management arenas. He is providing comprehensive project support on one of STV|DPM’s long-standing house accounts. Chan earned his Bachelor of Science in facilities management from Iona College in Iona, NY, and completed additional coursework at the University of Hartford, Princeton University, and New York University.

Juan Pablo Cobos has more than 10 years of experience in project operations in the healthcare, corporate offices, K-12 and higher education market areas. Prior to joining the firm, Cobos worked for Verdi Construction where he collaborated with STV|DPM on the Danbury medical office building project, and is currently supporting projects at Greenwich and Norwalk hospitals. He also held project management positions with Morganti Group and Test-Con. Cobos is a graduate of Western Connecticut State University in Danbury, CT, where he earned his bachelor’s in economics.

Prior to joining STV|DPM, Kriti Sharma was a project strategist at Perkins Eastman in Stamford, CT. Sharma has several years of architectural experience in the healthcare industry. She has earned a master’s degree in land and property development from Texas A&M in College Station, TX; a master’s in construction management from the National Institute of Construction Management and Research in Pune, India; and a Bachelor of Science in architecture from Chandigarh College of Architecture Chandigarh, India.

Anthony Wagner possesses extensive experience in construction and mechanical systems and equipment. He has held past positions with Triad Construction Services, Central Mechanical Services and F. W. Webb. Wagner earned an associate degree from Tunxis Community College in Farmington, CT, in business administration. He has been assigned to support the STV|DPM team at its largest industrial house account.

NEWS RELEASE

Eric Byrd is currently working with the STV|DPM team providing move management and FF&E procurement services on the Naugatuck Valley Community College assignment in Waterbury, CT. Prior to joining the Hartford team, he served as project coordinator for Move Plan Group where he provided on-site project management at an elite hedge fund in Connecticut. Byrd is a graduate of Quinnipiac University in Hamden, CT, where he earned his Bachelor of Arts in entrepreneurship/small business management.

James Marquis's experience encompasses new construction, facility renovations, property management and maintenance, and project estimating. He comes to STV|DPM after serving as a residential contractor that specializes in custom home framing, additions, and remodeling. Marquis earned his bachelor's in construction management from the New England Institute of Technology in Warwick, RI.

Kyle Rongey comes to STV|DPM with six years of experience working for contractors in the residential and commercial construction markets. Prior to joining STV|DPM, he served as an assistant project manager and project engineer on projects in the academic, healthcare and municipal business arenas. Rongey graduated from Central Connecticut State University in New Britain, CT, with a Bachelor of Science in construction management.
